DEDICATION . . .

We the Senior Class of 1956 dedicate this first issue of "The Beachcomber" to our faculty in appreciation for their patience, understanding, and inspirations given us. The faculty will rightly remain a lasting memory of our years at Orleans High School.

FOREWORD . . .

To spend too much time in studies is sloth; to use them too much for ornament is affectation; to make judgment wholly by their rules is the humor of a scholar. . . . Crafty men condemn studies; simple men admire them; and wise men use them: for they teach not their own use; but that is a wisdom without them and above them, won by observation.

CLASS HISTORY

by Dorothy Williams

It all began back in 1944. There were only twenty-eight of us then. Years spent at the Elementary school were rather uneventful, although the fact remains that during our fifth grade life was seldom dull, since it was our fate to have five teachers within five months. The reason for that quick-change act is still a puzzle.

Fall of our seventh school year brought us to the hallowed halls of Orleans High School. Our first impression was one of starry-eyed wonder, but the initial confusion soon subsided, and with the swift passage of two years we found ourselves confronted with the actual beginning of our high school career. At that time our small class underwent a period of expansion: we were joined by classmates from Brewster and Eastham.

Soon after came the important election of class officers. That was quite a decision since those chosen were to guide us through a difficult period of readjustment. John Freeman was elected President and he proved very worthy of the position.

The school circus, an object of much preparation and of diligent efforts on the part of all the students, was held in March. Our class was well represented by a few of the girls who had a dance act entitled, "The Junior Rockettes." Many tedious hours were spent in rehearsing this act, to the delight of a few unscrupulous boys, who managed to observe the activity from a secluded spot.

That year came to a hilarious close with the first in a series of long to be remembered annual picnics at Nickerson park.

By the next year class elections had become less of a problem, since everyone was now well aware of the abilities and short-comings of everyone else. John Freeman was again elected top ofifcial, with Barb Whitright, Vice-President, Louisa Chase, secretary, and Ronnie Munsey, treasurer.

Everyone remembers our fist dance of the season, a Halloween Square Dance, where a good time was had by all.

Our selection for play competition was, "Dweller in the Darkness." The cast put out an excellent performance and we received favorable comments from everyone.

Another successful year was brought to a close by our annual picnic. The straw hat which was modeled by Lorraine Robbins will never be forgotten.

Our choice for an assembly during our Junior year was a one act comedy, "Too Much Mistletoe," directed by our class advisor, Mr. Head. The class worked diligently during rehearsals and their eforts were well repaid, for many of the audience proclaimed it the greatest assembly ever! !

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF 1956

By Linda Long

Carole Toomey leaves her nursing ambitions to Pam Crosby.
Dottie Williams leaves her queenly bearing to Doris Winn. Straighten up and fly right, Doris.
John MacKenzie gratefully gives his wedding day shakes to Joey Davis.
Goeffrey Warburton leaves his mechanical skills to Dave Drown. Use this on your car, Dave.
Arthur Foster donates a set of wisdom teeth to a worthy cause, Mr. Shaw.
Jackie Remillard leaves her proficiency in sports to Mary-Lou McPhee.
Lillian Perreault passes on her speed and accuracy to her cousin, Jeanie. Maybe it runs in the family, Jeanie.
Greg Turner leaves his bombing Buick to Richard Neese. Make it a three-car family, right, Richard?
Bobby Jordan leaves his love of cheerleading to Billy Livesy. Or cheerleaders, maybe?
Dickie Rogers leaves his choice of steadies to Jeff Whitmore.
Celina Gould leaves her quietness in class to Pete Souza. Mr. Brooks will appreciate that.
Joanne May leaves her Martha Raye clowning to Mary Lou Dunsford.
Louisa Chase leaves her Marilyn Monroe walk to Christie Munsey. More power to you, Christie.
Steve White leaves his musical ability to Arnold Minor. Try it out on a saw, Arnold.
Sonny Sencabaugh leaves his job at Livingston's to Johnny Knowles. Remember free sodas aren't included, Johnny.
John Freeman leaves his sports letters to Paul Doyle.
Fred Birdgewood leaves his reach to Patty Smith.
Bobby Neese passes his History answers to Allen French.
Janice Dunsford leaves her artistic ability to David Rich. His car could use a paint job!
George Hand gives the art of filibustering class meetings to Eddie Brookshire. The key to success, Eddie.
Pete Arnold leaves his Bill Haley Records to Sue Ryder.
Patty Murray gives her favorite sailboat to Mr. Cochran.
Austin MacQuade leaves his after-school taxi service to Paul Hooper.
I, Linda Long, leave with pleasure.

CLASS PROPHECY

by Louisa Chase and Melvin Rogers

We, the Pandoras of the Class of 1956, having been duly certified as legitimate holders of the key to the future and former winners of the Drew Pearson Medal of Clairvoyance, do set our seal to the following prophecies which will be realized by 1966.

After eight seasons with the Pittsburgh Pirates, Pete Arnold found his name enrolled in the Baseball Hall of Fame. By unanimous vote of the Baseball Writers of America, "Pistol Pete" was named Bat Boy of the Year.

After a series of very successful TV and concert appearances, Rosy Athearn and her Violent Violin and Steve White and his Singing Steinway are making a personal appearance tour of Dairy Queen milk bars.

Tragedy struck at Torpedoman 1st Class Fred Bridgewood. Shipmates on a submarine mistook tall and lean Fred for a torpedo under his bunk and fired him from Number 3 tube. We are happy to report, however, that Fred was on target and that the ship he hit is in drydock awaiting repairs.

Diligent research by medical technician Jini Carpenter has lead to the discovery of an antidote for Shepherd's Pie a la Richardson.

The well recognized poetic abilities of Louisa Chase have born fruit. Her contract with Burma Shave Foundation has been renewed.

Every Sunday during our afternoon drive we are reminded of what talent and hard work can produce for it is then that we look at the billboards on our great highways, many of which are the products of the brush of Janice Dunsford. Her latest effort, a gasoline pump rampant on a field of yellow, is not to be missed.

Having exhausted all other literature, Joan Fillion has become a proof reader for the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Paul Fitzpatrick has developed a process for removing postmarks from used stamps. Saves him millions, he reports.

After extensive training in business administration, Art Foster, who was voted one of the ten young men of the year recently, has been named Production and Distribution Manager for the popcorn concession at Red's Barber Shop.

After graduation from Tufts, John Freeman was retained by Jackson College to coach badminton, volley ball and advanced pingpong. He is assisted by Mel Rogers.

Laura Fulcher has found fame with Ringling Brothers. The climax of her act is the daring feat of tying a python and a boaconstrictor together in a square knot.

Currently out of the cast with the Ballet Russe is Cindy Gallant. She became so dizzy pirouetting hither and you that she did a Grand Jetée into the orchestra and went through a kettle drum.

When the time for play competition arrived everyone was very excited, and anxious to choose a play which would be capable of earning first prize. As Juniors it was our last chance to make good in the competition.

After serious consideration we decided on a comedy, "Hanging Uncle Henry." Again Mr. Head was confronted with the task of directing the players. All were sure that we had a hit, but the final decision found us in second place, a cruel blow to our ego.

Of course the highlight of the year and the biggest project for us as Juniors, was the organization of the Junior Prom.

The theme was, "Under Southern Stars." Bob Neese became chairman of the whole event, but everyone agreed that the credit for its success should go to Janice Dunsford, and her decorating committee. Certainly the final results were very effective.

Another year was then at an end and a party at Coast Guard Beach was our final fling together as Juniors.

There was an air of excitement in our home-room when the first meeting of the Senior class commenced. Mr. Head had left Orleans for a new position and Mr. Argo, our new advisor, presided at the meeting.

The most important item on the agenda for the day was the election of ofifcers. The year to come would be an eventful one for us, therefore the class President would have a great responsibility. Ronnie Munsey was chosen, and she has done a wonderful job.

Then the planning of the Washington trip, to take place in April, began. A Mothers' Club was organized and sales, suppers, and parties were planned to raise the necessary funds. The students also were expected to aid this fund-raising campaign, and our first effort was the class play, "Our Town," presented in November.

It was our good fortune to have Mr. Argo for class advisor. His previous experience in the theater was a great asset in his directing of the play, which, needless to say, was a tremendous success. After the final performance a party was given at the Southward Inn, and gifts were presented to Mr. Argo, with our appreciation.

The first publication of a school yearbook, "The Beachcomber" was undertaken by our class. George Hand did an excellent job as editor, and the sales department was efficiently handled by Brendon Carron. Every copy was sold and we had high hopes that such a project would be undertaken by every Senior class to come.

So it is that as our final year at Orleans High School comes to an end, we pause to look back on twelve years spent together, during which happy times overshadowed hard work.

Lorraine Robbins leaves her membership in the Siam Club to next year's most gullible Senior.

Cindy Gallant leaves forty quarts of string beans to Our Town.

Joel Kelly donates his brain to future Science classes.

Phyllis Rogers leaves her shy smile to John Hinckley.

Parky Hammatt gives his Louisana drawl to Mr. Brooks. The South will rise again!

Susanne Daniels leaves her Valentine cake to anyone who will take a chance on it.

Ronnie Munsey leaves her reputation as a sargent-of-arms to Doug Higgins, president of the class of '57.

Ronnie Munsey leaves her reputation as

Joan Fillion leaves her favorite bookmark to Otis Thompson.

Anita Jamieson leaves her Canadian vacation to Billy Giroux. Hope you get your work made up, too, Billy.

Carol Harding leaves her flirty, flirty eyes to Agnes Fillion. Use them well, Agnes.

Mel Rogers leaves his basketball ability to Bobby Clark. Maybe Bobby will be our next star.

Rosemary Athern leaves her French III grammar to Martha Reynolds.

Paul Fitzpatrick loans his curls to Chris Macomber. Hope Chris will get lot of use out of them.

George Doyle gives three feet of his height to Mr. Pettingill.

Virginia Carpenter passes on her title of best-dressed girl to Ellen Cady.

Laura Fulcher leaves her free cokes at Livingston's to Gail Perreault.

Fred Vogel leaves next season's first deer to Ed Leonard.

Geof Moore leaves a pair of loaded dice to Mr. Reynolds. Don't let anyone catch you shooting crap in the office, Mr. Reynolds.

Amy Clapp leaves her running debate with Mr. Brooks to Mary Flavell.

Betty Johnston leaves her favorite recipes to Jean Mayo.

Abbott Knowles leaves his trick knee to Don Conaway.

Dana Lee gives his map of Wellfleet to Dickie Hoffman. Use it wisely, Dick.

Literary talent will out. The new soap opera sponsored by Swish—"Every Bubble Washes Double"—and entitled "Ma Toomey" is written by George Hand. "Ma" is played by our own Carole Toomey and the story centers around a bunny rabbit farm.

Anita Jamieson has been elected Miss Wrong Number of 1966.

Bob Jordan does tricks on a motorcycle with the carnival circuit. He goes around and around and around and around.

Professor Joel Kelly is completing his translation of the works of Mickey Spillane into Sanskrit.

Lt. Abbott Knowles has received the Purple Heart after tripping over a curbstone and skinning his knee.

Dana Lee is collecting royalties on a copyrighted slicing machine which is proving a blessing to all cafeterias serving meatloaf.

Extensive training at a school of journalism has netted Linda Long a nationally syndicated column which we all admire: "Linda Lovelorn Says . . . "

After a harrowing career at the Rhode Island School of Design, Ozzie MacQuade has finally crashed into the forefront of fashion design with "The Lumpy Look."

John MacKenzie, USNR, holds the distinction of being the first LST commander to try to drive a ship up the main street of Miami.

Joanne May's remarkable talent for baby talk has placed her in a starring role at the Disney Studios.

Jeff Moore may be seen nightly at Storyville where he is playing comb and tissue paper solos backed by Greg Turner and his Thumpertown Three, a jazz combo consisting of Fred Vogel on glockenspiel, Jeff Warburton on Washboard and George Doyle on Tambourine.

Between sets by the Thumpertown Three, Ronnie Munsey sings in her unique style. As one serious critic put it: "She doesn't sing the white notes or the black notes; she sings in the cracks."

After false starts at various schools of nursing, business, and education, Patty Murray, Lil Perreault, Dotty Williams, and Jackie Remillard pooled their resources and money and talent, bought a large horse and are touring the Carnival Circuit billed as the Four Pneumatic Sisters, Equestriennes Extraordinary.

Pilot Bob Meese has been grounded for blowing off his afterburner too close to the WAC barracks.

Honorable Potentate Lorraine Robbins is just back from Bangkok where she represented the combined United States delegations at a congress of the Ancient Order of Siam.

At last year's Iowa State Fair, Phyllis Rogers won first prize for hog-calling.

Packing them in in the Panhandle are singing guitarists Hopalong Hammatt and his podner, Betty "Twanger" Johnston.

Chemist Sonny Sencabaugh was last seen proceeding in an upward direction over the Dupont explosives laboratory.

Finally, three local girls have made good locally. Currently doing heavy research on magpies at Austin's Bird Sanctuary in Wellfleet are Amy Clapp, Sue Daniels, and Celina Gould.
